

QUINT STUDER

Quint Studer, founder of Studer Group, is considered by many as the main impetus for developing tools and techniques for organizations attaining great results. The systems he and the Studer Group have invented hardwire techniques and behaviors to sustain these great results. Quint has done it.

After ten (10) years teaching special education, Quint entered healthcare as the Community Relations Representative with Parkside Medical Services.

He then went to Mercy Health System in Janesville, Wisconsin, moving from Director of Marketing to Senior Vice President of Business Development. From July 1987 to January of 1993, Quint was involved in taking Mercy Health System from a single location to a large vertically integrated system. Quint was also placed in charge of focusing on employee satisfaction.

From January 1993 to June of 1996, Quint served as COO of Holy Cross Hospital in Chicago, Illinois. His focus on patient care helped Holy Cross gain a national reputation in operational excellence by being named Hospital Magazines 'Great Comeback Winner' in 1994.

In June of 1996, Quint was named the Administrator of Baptist Hospital, Inc. in Pensacola, Florida. While President of Baptist Hospital, Quint used his past experiences to lead this organization to unprecedented success. In 1997, Baptist was named by Modern Healthcare magazine as their Service Excellence winner as well as being named by Voluntary Hospital Association as winner of their Leadership Award. In 1999, inc. (pronounced Ink) magazine named Quint its March Master of Business, making him the only healthcare leader to have ever won this award. Just recently, Quint received the honor of being named to Modern Healthcare's 100 Most Powerful People in Healthcare for 2008.

In January 2000, Quint formed the Studer Group. Today the Studer Group is the leading company in assisting organizations to achieve their desired results. Along the way, Quint has written two (2) best selling books. Hardwiring Excellence is the best selling leadership book ever written for healthcare with over 300,000 copies in print. His latest book, Results That Last, a general leadership book published by Wiley, came to print on October 17, 2007 and in just four (4) weeks after publishing, hit the Wall Street Journal's best seller list of business books.

Most importantly, Quint stays in the field creating tools and techniques to make organizations better. Quint is called 'healthcare's fire starter' for igniting the flame in each of us to make a difference.
